*Introducing Overland Water Protection

Your broker has recommended that we add our new Overland Water Endorsement to your insurance policy. It covers damage caused by water that suddenly accumulates and enters your property during weather events such as heavy rains, spring run-off, or overflowing lakes and rivers.

Aviva is the first insurance company to offer this overland water protection for residential property owners and tenants. And the timing couldn't be better. According to Environment Canada, over the past 60 years it's been getting warmer and wetter.

- Canadians now experience an additional 20 days of rain each year
- Severe water events that used to happen every 40 years can now be expected to happen every six years

Overland Water is a key part of Aviva Water Protection, which also includes the coverage in your base policy and sewer back-up coverage.

Please refer to the enclosed policy wordings for the full details of your Aviva Water Protection.

Updates to your Sewer Back-up coverage

We have updated this endorsement to make it clear that it only covers damage caused by water coming into your property from a sewer, septic tank or sump pump.

In addition, if you have a loss that we cover, we have added a special feature that provides up to $1,000 towards the cost of a device to help protect you from future sewer back-up claims.

We appreciate your business – it's our privilege to protect what matters to you
